Youth Earth, Health, and Conservation Day

Atlanta, Georgia (April 24, 2010), On May 14, 2010, Youth Development and Capacity Building, Inc. and its adopted elementary school Peyton Forest Elementary School located at 301 Peyton Road, Atlanta, Georgia 30311, is hosting with Travis Brown 5th grade elementary school and its students are having a day of show our children how to keep the earth healthy by understanding how we need to conserve life on earth.

The theme of the Youth Day:

- Creating educational tools to reach our youth in early childhood development so that there community environment remains safe.

This Youth Day was created by the students of Travis Brown 5th grade class understanding that we need to do something to help our community and schools understand that we have to do more to keep our land free of waste. The students have been breaking up in teams to coordinate this event with the guidance's of YDACBINC and its staff. We have enlisted to teachings of USDA, Rural Development (RD) WDC; EPA, WDC; USDA, Forest Service (FS) WDC, USDA, Food Safety Inspection Service (FSIS) WDC, Emory University, Dr. Neil Shulman of Atlanta, GA; Cleah Designer, Inc of Atlanta, GA; and Businessman Cobby Williams, of Washington, DC.

Several presentations and teachings will be given but Smokey the Bear and Thermy the Mascot will be one of the highlight of this youth day, however the planting of tress and flower will also provided some creative activities that will expand these youth growth regarding the earth and keeping it healthy. The agenda discussion also target areas for in educational resources, program development, youth go green marketing, healthy green conservation, and more.

We encourage everyone in Atlanta, Georgia to attend and show our youth that we care about them and our environment. The day will impact elementary schools nationwide while descending on Peyton Forest Elementary School for a cohesive self-empowerment day.
